SECOND SUNDAY OF ADVENT

St. Peter's Square in Vatican City can fit 300,000 faithful. Designed by famed architect Gian Lorenzo Bernini in 1656, it's meant to mimic the "arms" of the Catholic Church embracing all people. In Christ, everyone has the opportunity to become Children of God, to which St. John The Baptist speaks about in this Sunday's Gospel.

FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK

Dear St. Mary's Parishioners,

It happens to us all sooner or later. In fact, maybe someone reading this Pastor's Desk is feeling it right now – We've all felt lost, spiritually and morally lost. We don't know where to go. Things haven't turned out as we planned. In many ways, we can feel adrift, caught up in the same daily routine of waking up, eating, and sleeping, and forever repeating. Where is my life going, we often wonder? Dante, the famous Medieval Italian poet, captured this sentiment well in the Divine Comedy: "Midway on the journey of our life, I woke up to find myself alone and lost in a dark wood having wandered from the straight path."

If this has ever been you, Jesus wants to lead us out of the quagmire. Christianity is a religion for the lost. It's not for those who have everything under control. In fact, it's a religion for those who embarrassingly surrender. "Repent!" We hear St. John the Baptist proclaim in this Sunday's Gospel reading. "Repent! For the Kingdom of God is at hand." He tells his first century listeners to recognize they are lost in their sins and totally overwhelmed. Once we do, we can finally begin to take the first steps out of the "dark wood." If we think we are not lost and that all is fine and dandy with me, we will never need a guide to lead us home. We will never need the God who comes as one of us. We will never need Jesus Christ.

Sometimes people think that Catholicism is too harsh, too stern with its rules. The Church is too demanding, with all its regulations of confessing once a year (at least!), fasting during Lent, giving a percentage of one's income back to God, honoring the Sabbath Day by attending Sunday Mass, the list goes on and on. Maybe so. The Church asks much of us, because she loves much. At the end of the day, the Church wants what is best, despite her leaders failing to live up to the high divine standards, myself especially included. She understands that after 2,000 years of trials and tribulations and the lived experiences of the saints, holiness requires us to put "skin in the game." There is no such thing as cheap grace. "You shall be holy," God says to us in the Good Book. "For I the Lord your God am holy." (Leviticus 19:2)

When St. John the Baptist saw the Pharisees and Sadducees in our Gospel reading, he chastised them, "You brood of vipers!" He yelled for all to hear. Imagine all the eyes of the crowd now trained on these religious leaders. "Why is he mad at them?" They must have wondered? Are these not the learned men of Israel? They had all the knowledge of God's ways but they still lacked the one thing necessary, a soft heart. "Produce good fruit as evidence of your repentance." Their lives still had not changed.

During this season of Advent, allow the candles that are lit each Sunday call us out of the "dark wood" into the marvelous light that is Christ himself. He comes to lead us out of our mess, if only we allow him. Don't be like the Pharisees and Sadducees who do not need a savior. Throw up your hands and surrender and let Christ take control of our lives.

A Slave of Jesus Christ,

Fr. Brian J. Salonen

SEGUNDO DOMINGO DE ADVIENTO

4 de diciembre de 2022

DESDE EL ESCRITORIO DEL PÁRROCO

Estimados Feligreses de Santa María,

A todos nos pasa tarde o temprano. De hecho, tal vez alguien que este leyendo este escrito del Escritorio del Párroco, lo sienta en este momento: todos nos hemos sentido perdidos, espiritual y moralmente desorientados. No sabemos a dónde ir. Las cosas no han resultado como las hemos planeado. En muchos sentidos, podemos sentirnos a la deriva, atrapados en la misma rutina de diario, lo cual es despertar, comer y dormir, y repetirla siempre. ¿Hacia dónde va mi vida, a menudo nos preguntamos? Dante, el famoso poeta medieval italiano, captó bien este sentimiento en la Divina Comedia: “A la mitad de la jornada de nuestra vida, me desperté para encontrarme solo y perdido en un bosque oscuro después de desviarme del sendero recto”.

Si alguna vez este has sido tú, Jesús nos quiere sacar del atolladero. El cristianismo es una religión para los perdidos. No es para aquellos que tienen todo bajo control. De hecho, es una religión para aquellos que avergonzados se rinden. “¡Arrepiéntanse!” Escuchamos a San Juan Bautista proclamar en la lectura del Evangelio de este domingo. “¡Arrepiéntanse! Porque el Reino de Dios está cerca.” Les dice a sus oyentes del primer siglo que reconocan que están perdidos en sus pecados y totalmente abrumados. Una vez que lo hagamos, finalmente podremos comenzar a dar los primeros pasos fuera del “oscuro bosque”. Si pensamos que no estamos perdidos y que todo está bien, nunca necesitaremos una guía que nos lleve a casa. Nunca necesitaremos al Dios que viene como uno de nosotros. Nunca necesitaremos a Jesucristo.

A veces la gente piensa que el catolicismo es demasiado riguroso, demasiado rígido con sus reglas. La Iglesia es demasiado exigente, con todas sus normas de confesarse una vez al año (¡por lo menos!), ayunar durante la Cuaresma, dar un porcentaje de los ingresos a Dios, observar el día de fiesta asistiendo a la Misa dominical, la lista sigue y sigue. Tal vez así sea. La Iglesia nos pide mucho, porque ama mucho. Al final del día, la Iglesia quiere lo mejor, a pesar de que sus líderes no están a la altura de las altas normas divinas, incluyéndome especialmente a mí. Ella entiende que después de 2000 años de pruebas y tribulaciones y de las experiencias vividas por los santos, la santidad requiere que pongamos “la piel en el juego”. No existe tal cosa como la gracia barata. “Sed santos”, nos dice Dios en el Libro Bueno. “Porque yo, el Señor tu Dios, soy santo”. (Levítico 19:2)

Cuando San Juan Bautista vio a los fariseos y saduceos en nuestra lectura del Evangelio, los reprendió: “¡Generación de víboras!”. Gritó para que todos escucharan. Imagine todos los ojos de la multitud ahora fijos en estos líderes religiosos. “¿Por qué está enojado con ellos?” ¿Debieron haberse preguntado? ¿No son éstos los sabios de Israel? Tenían todo el conocimiento de los caminos de Dios, pero aún carecían de lo único necesario, un corazón noble. “Producir buen fruto como prueba de vuestro arrepentimiento”. Sus vidas aún no habían cambiado.

Durante esta temporada de Adviento, permita que las velas que se encienden cada domingo nos llamen del “bosque oscuro” a la luz maravillosa que es el mismo Cristo. Viene a sacarnos de nuestro desorden, si solo se lo permitiéramos. No sean como los fariseos y saduceos que no necesitan un salvador. Levante sus manos y ríndase y dejar que Cristo tome el control de nuestras vidas.

Un Esclavo de Jesucristo,

Brian J. Solinen
